Die Nachrichten Alain de Botton 2015-05-21 Die ultimative Gebrauchsanweisung für Nachrichtenjunkies Die Medien sind allgegenwärtig. Überall präsentieren uns Bildschirme eine neue Gegenwart, fordern ständig unsere Aufmerksamkeit. Sind wir einmal außer Sichtweite, zücken wir das Smartphone, damit uns nichts entgeht. Aber diese Nachrichtenflut laugt uns aus, am Ende wissen wir alles und nichts und haben jede Orientierung verloren. Mit einem Buch, das Augen öffnet und Konfrontationen auslöst, zeigt uns Alain de Botton anhand von 25 alltäglichen Nachrichten, wie diese unseren Kopf besetzen - und was wir dagegen tun können.

The Invention of Art Larry Shiner 2001-09 "Larry Shiner challenges our conventional understandings of art and asks us to reconsider its history entirely, arguing that the category of fine art is a modern invention - and that the lines drawn between art and craft emerged only as the result of key European social transformations during the long eighteenth century"--Publisher's description.

Contesting Islam, Constructing Race and Sexuality Sunera Thobani 2020-12-10 The current political standoffs of the 'War on Terror' illustrate that the interaction within and between the so-called Western and Middle Eastern civilizations is constantly in flux. A recurring theme however is how Islam and Muslims signify the 'Enemy' in the Western socio-cultural imagination and have become the 'Other' against which the West identifies itself. In a unique and insightful blend of critical race, feminist and post-colonial theory, Sunera Thobani examines how Islam is foundational to the formation of Western identity at critical points in its history, including the Crusades, the Reconquista and the colonial period. More specifically, she explores how masculinity and femininity are formed at such pivotal junctures and what role feminism has played in the wars against 'radical' Islam. Exposing these symbiotic relationships, Thobani explores how the return of 'religion' is reworking the racial, gender and sexual politics by which Western society defines itself, and more specifically, defines itself against Islam. Contesting Islam, Constructing Race and Sexuality unpacks conventional as well as unconventional orthodoxies to open up new spaces in how we think about sexual and racial identity in the West and the crucial role that Islam has had and continues to have in its development.

The Invention of News Andrew Pettegree 2014-02-01 "A fascinating account of the gathering and dissemination of news from the end of the Middle Ages to the French Revolution" and the rise of the newspaper (Glenn Altschuler, The Huffington Post). Long before the invention of printing, let alone the daily newspaper, people wanted to stay informed. In the pre-industrial era, news was mostly shared through gossip, sermons, and proclamations. The age of print brought pamphlets, ballads, and the first news-sheets. In this groundbreaking history, renowned historian Andrew Pettegree tracks the evolution of news in ten countries over the course of four centuries, examining the impact of news media on contemporary events and the lives of an ever-more-informed public. The Invention of News sheds light on who controlled the news and who reported it; the use of news as a tool of political protest and religious reform; issues of privacy and titillation; the persistent need for news to be current and for journalists to be trustworthy; and people's changing sense of themselves and their communities as they experienced newly opened windows on the world. "This expansive view of news and how it reached people will be fascinating to readers interested in communication and cultural history." —Library Journal (starred review)

Readers' Liberation Jonathan Rose 2018-01-05 The Literary Agenda is a series of short polemical monographs about the importance of literature and of reading in the wider world and about the state of literary education inside schools and universities. The category of 'the literary' has always been contentious. What is clear, however, is how increasingly it is dismissed or is unrecognised as a way of thinking or an arena for thought. It is sceptically challenged from within, for example, by the sometimes rival claims of cultural history, contextualized explanation, or media studies. It is shaken from without by even greater pressures: by economic exigency and the severe social attitudes that can follow from it; by technological change that may leave the traditional forms of serious human communication looking merely antiquated. For just these reasons this is the right time for renewal, to start reinvigorated work into the meaning and value of literary reading. For the Internet and digital generation, the most basic human right is the freedom to read. The Web has indeed brought about a rapid and far-reaching revolution in reading, making a limitless global pool of literature and information available to anyone with a computer. At the same time, however, the threats of censorship, surveillance, and mass manipulation through the media have grown apace. Some of the most important political battles of the twenty-first century have been fought—and will be fought—over the right to read. Will it be adequately protected by constitutional guarantees and freedom of information laws? Or will it be restricted by very wealthy individuals and very powerful institutions? And given increasingly sophisticated methods of publicity and propaganda, how much of what we read can we believe? This book surveys the history of independent sceptical reading, from antiquity to the present. It tells the stories of heroic efforts at self-education by disadvantaged people in all parts of the world. It analyzes successful reading promotion campaigns throughout history (concluding with Oprah Winfrey) and explains why they succeeded. It also explores some disturbing current trends, such as the reported decay of attentive reading, the disappearance of investigative journalism, 'fake news', the growth of censorship, and the pervasive influence of advertisers and publicists on the media—even on scientific publishing. For anyone who uses libraries and Internet to find out what the hell is going on, this book is a guide, an inspiration, and a warning.

Wie viele andere findet auch er Arbeit in den Schlachthöfen Chicagos, doch die Hygiene- und Sicherheitsstandards sind so niedrig, die Anforderungen so hoch und die Bezahlung so erbärmlich, dass die Immigranten kaum eine Chance auf ein vernünftiges Leben haben. Nachdem seine Familie durch mehrere Tragödien zerstört wird und ihre Existenz verliert, ist er gezwungen, auf illegalen Wegen Geld zu verdienen. Nach und nach erkennt er die Notwendigkeit, für Reformen und ein besseres

Leben zu kämpfen. Der Dschungel gehört zu den wichtigsten Romanen der Literatur des 20. Jahrhunderts. Ein zeitloses, atemberaubend spannendes Leseerlebnis.

The Big Truck That Went By Jonathan M. Katz 2014-04-01 PEN Literary Award Finalist On January 12, 2010, the deadliest earthquake in the history of the Western Hemisphere struck the nation least prepared to handle it. Jonathan M. Katz, the only full-time American news correspondent in Haiti, was inside his house when it buckled along with hundreds of thousands of others. In this visceral, authoritative first-hand account, Katz chronicles the terror of that day, the devastation visited on ordinary Haitians, and how the world reacted to a nation in need. More than half of American adults gave money for Haiti, part of a monumental response totaling $16.3 billion in pledges. But three years later the relief effort has foundered. Its most basic promises-to build safer housing for the homeless, alleviate severe poverty, and strengthen Haiti to face future disasters-remain unfulfilled. The Big Truck That Went By presents a sharp critique of international aid that defies today's conventional wisdom; that the way wealthy countries give aid makes poor countries seem irredeemably hopeless, while trapping millions in cycles of privation and catastrophe. Katz follows the money to uncover startling truths about how good intentions go wrong, and what can be done to make aid "smarter." With coverage of Bill Clinton, who came to help lead the reconstruction; movie-star aid worker Sean Penn; Wyclef Jean; Haiti's leaders and people alike, Katz weaves a complex, darkly funny, and unexpected portrait of one of the world's most fascinating countries. The Big Truck That Went By is not only a definitive account of Haiti's earthquake, but of the world we live in today.

The Global Journalist Philip M. Seib 2002 This title argues that not only do US news media have a duty to cover international events that affect the interests of the public and the government, they should also bring more attention to international conflict and suffering.

The Library Andrew Pettegree 2021 "Famed across the known world, jealously guarded by private collectors, built up over centuries, destroyed in a single day, ornamented with gold leaf and frescoes or filled with bean bags and children's drawings - the history of the library is rich, varied and stuffed full of incident. In this, the first major history of its kind, Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen explore the contested and dramatic history of the library, from the famous collections of the ancient world to the embattled public resources we cherish today. Along the way, they introduce us to the antiquarians and philanthropists who shaped the world's great collections, trace the rise and fall of fashions and tastes, and reveal the high crimes and misdemeanours committed in pursuit of rare and valuable manuscripts."--

Was wir uns erzählen Clint Smith 2022-03-14 Von 0 auf Platz 1 der New-York-Times-Bestseller-Liste: Clint Smith mit dem Buch der Stunde eines der 10 besten Sachbücher des Jahres 2021 - New York Times Nominiert für den National Book Award for Nonfiction (Longlist) eines von Barack Obamas Lieblingsbüchern des Jahres 2021 In diesem Buch nimmt Clint Smith seine Leser*innen mit auf eine einzigartige Reise zu den Wahrzeichen, Denkmälern und historischen Stätten Amerikas, die von der Geschichte der Sklaverei künden. Doch ist die Wahrheit über die Unterdrückung und das Leid unter den vielen Schichten der Erinnerung, den Legenden und Zuschreibungen, verschüttet. Clint Smith fördert sie wieder zutage. Dabei folgt er den Spuren des transatlantischen Sklavenhandels von New Orleans nach Monticello bis zum berüchtigten Angola Gefängnis und offenbart uns, wie dieser in der gegenwärtigen Erinnerungskultur, in Erzählungen und Monumenten nachwirkt. Poetisch und brillant veranschaulicht Smith, wie eng alltägliche Orte, Feiertage und sogar ganze Stadtteile mit diesem gewaltsamen Kapitel der amerikanischen Geschichte verflochten sind und so noch immer die Gegenwart prägen. »Smith zwingt uns, zu überdenken, was wir über die amerikanische Geschichte zu wissen glauben.«
